Greetings to L.H.S. Students:

I am grateful that so many of you have learned much in the years you have been in high school. I feel sure that you have learned many valuable and important facts during this time.

In thinking for the future, you should try to imagine what can be done with what you have learned. One of the aims of Lyons High School is to teach our students to think and assume their responsibilities. It is my wish that Lyons High School has provided many facts and principles to serve as the building blocks for the thoughts of our students.

Students of today are going to be responsible for the many advances which are to be made in civilization starting from where we are today.

To the Seniors, your lives have been busy during this Senior year. You have studied basic sciences, languages, history, and many other subjects. Many of you have had many interests and activities outside the required subjects. I am sure that these extra activities furnished many opportunities for leadership for team work and for just doing what you wanted to do.

I want to urge each member of the Senior Class to continue forward and develop your potentialities to the highest possible degree. Remember that you determine what your future is going to be, so strive to do your best.

To the Mastiff Staff, I commend you for a splendid job well done. This yearbook will provide much pleasure for our students, parents, and many others in years to come. This yearbook will become even more valuable to us as the years go by.

Outstanding Students In Diversified Cooperative Training

I, as the instructor in the DCT program, am pleased to announce my choices for the most outstanding students for the 1967-68 term according to the regulations set down in the constitution.

Janice Stewart and Jimmy Wiggins have been in the class for two years. During this time Jimmy has worked to become a store manager and Janice has worked as a meat cutter. Their qualities of work have been most satisfactory. They have maintained acceptable standards of work in their classes. They are active members in our club organization.

I know that they best exemplify the attributes stated in the DCT Program.

SEN. HERMAN TALMADGE is to continue his efforts to keep Savannah U.S. Customs laboratory open.

The Treasury Department last month announced plans to close the 100-year-old laboratory just as action is under way on both the state and federal levels to improve port facilities here which could only mean increased growth of the port and ina letter from Sen. Talmadge that the laboratory decision would be re-evaluated after the 1969 customs budget had been received and that the senator would be "consulted before any final decision is made."

Sen. Talmadge then wrote Treasury Secretary Joseph P. Kamp that at is distressing at the moment is the plight of employees in the federal, state and local governments. Laws of many states forbid strikes, so, in some instances, resignations are the only way groups take place on a large scale. But the obvious fact is that this isn't the way to run governmental operations. Sometime or later, state legislatures and city councils will have to come to realize that a realistic way of fixing wages and putting them in effect promptly to meet inflationary trends is absolutely essential.

THE GOVERNMENT as an employer is affected by a system of dual management growing out of separate legislative and administrative responsibilities.

Don't Tell Me That Bricklayers Are Lazy

I had seen hundreds of houses being built, but never from the ground up, day by day. That was because previous neighborhoods which I had lived in were built.

It has been an experience watching the house being built. It has deepened my respect for the building industry and convinced me that I have right all these years in that a house to live in is one of the finest examples of a craftsman's craftsmanship.

It has been less than two months since the surveyors appeared on that vacant lot and now there's a fine brick house almost ready for occupancy.
